

Tool X: Professional Learning Communities Rubric

What is the Status of your School's PLC Development?

What is an Implementation Rubric?

Rubrics are usually used as assessment tools to measure students' work. They are scoring guides that don't depend on a numerical score. Instead, they list a full range of criteria or elements to assess a particular piece of work or performance.

They describe varying degrees of quality for each element, increasing from left to right. A benefit of rubrics is that they provide signposts to where you can get to as a result of development, and pointers to next steps that might be taken when trying to develop particular activities.

What is the Purpose of this Rubric?

This implementation rubric helps you see where colleagues think you are as a professional learning community (PLC) as they reflect on different criteria related to specific characteristics and processes of PLCs. The 12 topics down the left-hand side are the eight characteristics and four developmental processes of PLCs that were identified through a comprehensive study conducted by colleges and universities in England (please see references below). For each of these, a number of key descriptors are mapped out horizontally, showing the development of each through four phases of their journey, highlighted at the top of the four columns. These range from what might be happening when you are starting on the journey to develop a PLC to action taken when the PLC is self-sustaining. The rubric progression includes:

- Starting out; acquiring information and beginning to use ideas.
- Developing; experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment.
- Deepening; well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits.
- Sustaining; introducing new developments, re-evaluating quality—PLC as a way of life.

How Might you Use the Rubric?

You might choose to use the rubric in a range of ways. For example:

- Individual staff members complete the rubric privately and give it to a designated person or team who collate(s) responses and feed(s) these back to the staff for discussion
- Individual staff members complete the rubric before sharing and discussing their responses with each other
- Small groups complete the rubric together and then compare, summarize, reflect upon and discuss their responses. This could culminate in a process that identifies group differences and similarities which may pose as the catalyst for healthy dialogue.

Each person completing the rubric needs to look at the descriptors, perhaps highlighting comments that represent your PLC. They can then decide which phase best represents the PLC's current position, either highlighting the appropriate box in the table or marking the box in the blank response sheet included after the rubric. There is also a space labeled 'How do you know?' where people can support their responses with evidence.

Looking through individual highlighted responses can help schools see trends and patterns as well as differences in opinion. You can prepare a summary sheet of all the responses using the blank summary response sheet provided.

At the end of the activity, you will find some questions to discuss once you have pulled together the results.

The process can be repeated each year. You can look at changes people think have occurred and discuss the reasons for these changes.

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Shared Values and Vision

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Shared values and vision	Staff have diverse values related to educational issues. They are beginning to recognize the need to move toward some collaborative processes. There may be initial discussions about student learning, student work and instructional practice. Some informal smaller groups within the staff may be sharing values about education and leadership.	An increasing number of staff share educational values, and participate actively in discussions about vision and values. Shared educational vision is often stronger and more apparent in particular groups, grade levels, or departments within the school	Educational values and vision are generally shared throughout the school, subgroups, and professional learning communities and sometimes demonstrated through practice. The vision is revisited regularly and commitment to whole-school-wide professional values is increasing.	Educational values and vision are widely shared throughout the school, subgroups and PLC's, regularly revisited and revised as appropriate by the whole staff, and consistently demonstrated through practice. There is a high degree of commitment to whole-school-wide professional values and a strong sense of cohesion and consistency of approach.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Collective Responsibility

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Collective Responsibility	Staff do not feel a sense of whole-school-wide shared responsibility for all pupils. Some smaller groups, particularly those with common teaching or support responsibilities, feel a sense of shared responsibility. There are few whole-school discussions about learning, progress, development and successes of pupils.	Some staff members feel a sense of collective responsibility for all pupils in the school. Smaller groups (PLCs) feel a sense of shared responsibility for all pupils within their subject, year, key stage or phase. There are some whole-school discussions about pupils' learning, progress, development and successes.	There is a growing sense of collective responsibility throughout the school for the learning, progress, development and success of all pupils. Discussions of learning, progress, development and success of all pupils.	A desire to do the best for all pupils pervades the school. There is regular and deep whole-school dialogue about learning, progress, development and successes of individual pupils.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Learning Focused Collaboration

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Learning Focused Collaboration	Many staff work in isolation. They focus on their own goals, value self-reliance and rarely share practices and strategies. Some smaller groups or departments may infrequently collaborate and share learning and teaching and support strategies.	Some staff work together across the PLC, with joint planning, sharing strategies, and engaging in whole-school-wide projects. Some support staff or care workers and teaching staff collaborate closely but this is not a common feature.	Staff increasingly plan together, collaborate and share ideas through meetings, website resources, team teaching etc. There are examples of productive teamwork between teachers and support staff.	Collaborative planning of learning and teaching activities is taken for granted. Sharing of ideas and strategies and joint problem-solving are widespread. Teamwork involving teachers and support staff is widespread.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Existence of Professional Learning

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Existence of Professional Learning	Professional learning primarily consists of formal, short courses and whole- school or district in-service training. Participation is largely based on individual interest. Enthusiasm for school-based (needs- based) professional learning experiences is limited. There are few work-based professional learning opportunities in the school (eg peer observation, coaching, collaborative processing etc.)	A considerable number of staff are engaged in a variety of professional learning opportunities based on individual interest (eg courses, higher degrees etc) and increasingly this is also linked to school focus and needs. An increasing number of staff participate enthusiastically in whole- school and needs based professional learning experiences.	Staff are generally interested in diverse range of individual and group opportunities to increase their knowledge, understanding, and skills. Many staff participate enthusiastically in whole- school, needs-based professional learning experiences. Staff generally feed back their learning to the whole staff.	All staff are enthusiastically involved in in a diverse range of individual, group and whole-school professional learning experiences. The school as a workplace is seen as an important site for learning by all staff. Staff devote effort and energy into incorporating valuable new strategies into their practice. Learning is widely shared across the whole staff.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric: Reflective Professional Inquiry

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Reflective Professional Inquiry	There is little reflection or inquiry into practice. Data collection and the use of data to inform and develop learning and teaching practice are limited. Data may be seen as an end in itself and often as someone else's problem.	Some staff are involved in activities to investigate and improve learning and teaching, (e.g., peer observation and coaching action research, review and moderation of pupils' work etc.). Staff feedback on their learning to smaller groups and, sometimes, the whole staff. Data collection and the use of data to inform and develop learning and teaching are variable across the school.	Many staff are actively involved and show increasing confidence about using different methods to explore and improve learning and teaching. Data collection and the use of data to inform and develop learning and teaching are increasingly consistent across the school.	A questioning orientation to practice and 'need to know how we are doing and how we can improve' is pervasive. Staff confidently use a wide range of methods to investigate learning and teaching, using findings to inform and develop their practice. Data are collected, analyzed and used to support this process.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Openness, Networks and Partnerships

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Openness, Networks and Partnerships	There is very little professional contact outside the school. External networks and partnerships are limited, as is the seeking of external ideas and strategies.	Some staff are interested and engaged in networks and activities beyond the school as a source of generating and sharing ideas and strategies.	External sources for generating and sharing ideas and strategies are generally perceived as valuable. Staff are increasingly taking up opportunities to become involved in networks and external partnerships. Some whole-school networking is being explored.	Staff look beyond the school for new ideas and strategies. External input is sought out and welcomed. Links with other schools and external agencies are seen as valuable, productive and important. Many staff are involved in individual and school-wide external networks.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Inclusive Membership

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Inclusive Membership	Membership of the PLC is confined to a small group of teaching staff and some or all school leaders. Input of support staff is not invited.	Classroom support staff are increasingly involved as active members of the PLC. Other support staff are less involved.	Many support staff (teaching and other) participate as active members of the PLC.	The PLC includes all members of staff. All support staff are highly valued members of the PLC. The whole-school PLC draws people together from across the organization.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Mutual Trust, Respect and Support

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Characteristics	Mutual Trust, Respect and Support	Staff relationships highlight issues around trust and conflict. A blame culture may exist. Trust and respect exists among some members of smaller groups or departments. Development issues are viewed as a threat by a number of staff.	A moderate level of mutual trust exists school-wide, with increasing mutual respect, although there is some anxiety about classroom observation etc. There is strong mutual trust and respect among some groups of staff who work closely together.	Trust, respect and positive professional relationships are developing school-wide. Staff are increasingly open about their practice.	Staff relationships are characterized by openness, honesty, mutual trust, respect, support and care. Everyone's contribution is valued.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric: Optimizing Resources and Structures

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Processes	Optimizing Resources and Structures	There are few systems and policies in place to support place to support the development of the PLC. Time, space, money and/or communication mechanisms tend to act as barriers.	Attention is paid to trying to put into place the necessary conditions, structures, systems and policies that will help support PLC development: creating time; locating space; planning communication mechanisms; use of meetings and other procedures; arranging staff deployment etc	Most of the necessary structures, systems and policies are in place to support PLC development. Attention is paid to dealing with resource and structural issues that get in the way of PLC development.	Time, money, space, meetings, communication procedures and staff deployment are targeted as a priority to promote the ongoing development of the PLC. Resource and structural issues are dealt with swiftly and actively.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Promoting Professional Learning

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Processes	Promoting Professional Learning	An explicit needs identification process is rarely used, either for individual staff or whole-school needs. Coordination responsibility for continuing professional development is unspecified or unclear. Information for staff mainly comprises details about courses and training days.	A needs identification process has been developed and is being used for staff and whole-school professional learning needs. Continuous learning of all staff is increasingly promoted. Attention is paid to strengthening the coordination of professional learning.	Staff and whole-school professional learning needs are clearly identified. Continuous learning of all staff is promoted and carefully coordinated. A range of opportunities is planned to enable staff to learn from and with each other and facilitate the transfer of new learning into practice. Some staff are encouraged to take responsibility in promoting the professional learning of colleagues.	Staff and whole-school professional learning needs are regularly and consistently identified. Continuous professional learning and development for all staff is actively promoted and carefully coordinated. Attention is paid to ensure that new learning is transferred into practice. Opportunities are automatically planned to ensure staff can learn with and from each other.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Activating and Sustaining the PLC

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Processes	Avaluating and Sustaining the PLC	There is little or no discussion about the concept of a PLC. There is little evaluation of how the process of the PLC operates or how its development progresses.	The idea of a PLC is introduced to staff. There is occasional evaluation of how the process of the PLC operates or how its development progresses.	The PLC is consciously and actively developed. There is regular evaluation of how the process of the PLC operates or how its development progresses.	Being a PLC is just “part of the way we do things here.” People understand and support the idea of a PLC. Staff are actively encouraged to take responsibility in promoting the professional learning of colleagues.
	How do you know this?

Professional Learning Community Implementation Rubric:

Leading and Managing to Promote the PLC

		Starting out Acquiring information and beginning to use ideas	Developing Experimenting with strategies and building on initial commitment	Deepening Well on the way, having achieved a degree of mastery and feeling the benefits	Sustaining Introducing new developments, and re-evaluating quality - PLC as a way of life
PLC Processes	Leading and Managing to Promote the PLC	The principal works to build trust and begins to develop and share a learning vision and focus. Senior leadership team members are encouraged to participate in PLC leadership. Few other staff are involved in leading any PLC activities.	Attention is given by senior leaders to developing and spreading a learning vision and focus and building trust. Senior leaders model team work and leadership of learning. Other staff are involved in leading some PLC activities.	Senior leaders maintain their attention to developing and spreading a learning vision and focus and building trust. Senior leaders model learning. Leadership for different PLC activities is increasingly taken up by other staff.	Senior leaders are deeply committed to the development and sustainability of the school's PLC and prioritize this as a major leadership and management task. Distributing leadership among staff is an accepted practice.
	How do you know this?

Summary Response Sheet

	Starting Out	Developing	Deepening	Sustaining
Shared Values and Vision
Collective Responsibility
Learning-focused Collaboration
Existence of Professional Learning
Reflective Professional Inquiry
Openness, Networks and Partnerships
Inclusive Membership
Mutual Trust, Respect and Support
Optimizing Resources and Stuctures
Promoting Professional Learning
Evaluating and Sustaining the PLC
Leading and Managing to Promote the PLC

Questions for reflection and discussion

What did you notice as you were completing the rubric?

Which are the characteristics and processes, or aspects of these, where you feel you have progressed furthest along the route? What factors seem to have helped you?

Which are the characteristics and processes, or aspects of these, where you feel progression has been slower? What seems to have been holding back the PLC's development in these areas?

How will you move forward with this information?

Adapted from the National College of School Leadership

References:

National College for School Leadership Triumph Road

Nottingham NG8 1DH

T: 0870 001 1155

F: 0115 872 2001

E: nlc@ncsl.org.uk

W: www.ncsl.org.uk/nlc

General Teaching Council for England Whittington House

19-30 Alfred Place

London WC1E 7EA

T: 0870 001 0308

F: 020 7023 3909

E: info@gtce.org.uk

W: www.gtce.org.uk

DfES Innovation Unit

Sanctuary Buildings

Great Smith Street

London SW1P 3BT

T: 0870 000 2288

E: innovation.unit@dfes.gsi.gov.uk

W: www.standards.dfes.gov.uk/innovation-unit

Effective Professional Learning Communities University of Bristol

Graduate School of Education

8-10 Berkeley Square

Bristol

BS8 1HH

W: www.eplc.info